Thank You for stopping by ACE Computing & Technology. If you have reached this page, someone has probably referred you to us. We focus on the actual implementation and configuration of computers and technology at it best or sometimes worst. We handle small to medium sized businesses but also have the special touch for home user. We can make that iPod or SLi video graphics adapter work for you!

In the business arena we have excelled in designing and implementing server based networks for functions such as Email, self hosted web services, calendar sharing and many other functions utilized by a small to medium sized business. Please check out our PC/Server page to see the options we have available.
